Young people are encouraged to use their public library.

Each branch, plus the bookmobile, has a collection of books and materials suitable for children and teens.

All four (4) branches have space for programming.

There is a Youth Services Librarian for the system. Each branch has staff members that are capable of helping young people find the materials they need. There are several paraprofessionals who are trained to present a program to children, should the need arise.

Young people are allowed to have library cards with unlimited access. They are also allowed to use the public Internet computers, with their parent’s permission.

Rockingham County Public Library staff will not determine what is acceptable when checking out items to minors. That is a parental issue!
